2 TO DEFENDANT AND ITS COUNSEL OF RECORD:

3 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on November 20, 2007, or as soon thereafter as the matter
4 may be heard, at the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, 450
5 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California, Plaintiff Electronic Frontier Foundation ("EFF")
6 will, and hereby does, move for an order granting preliminary injunctive relief.

7 Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65, EFF seeks to enjoin the Office of the 8 Director of National Intelligence ("ODNI") from impeding EFF's efforts to expeditiously obtain 9 agency records concerning a lobbying campaign to amend U.S. foreign intelligence surveillance 10 law, particularly to hold telecommunications carriers unaccountable for their cooperation in 11 widespread and illegal government surveillance. EFF respectfully asks that this Court issue an 12 order requiring Defendant to expedite the processing of two Freedom of Information Act requests 13 submitted to the agency, to complete their processing within 10 days of the Court's order, and to 14 serve on EFF an index pursuant to Vaughn v. Rosen, 484 F.2d 820, 826-8 (D.C. Cir. 1973), 10 days 15 thereafter. This motion is based on this notice of motion, the memorandum of points and 16 authorities in support of this motion, the declaration of Marcia Hofmann and attached exhibits in 17 support of this motion, and all papers and records on file with the Clerk or which may be submitted 18 prior to or at the time of the hearing, and any further evidence which may be offered.
19
21

22 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

23 I. INTRODUCTION

24 This is an action under the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, seeking 25 the expedited processing and release of records held by Defendant ODNI concerning the efforts of 26 the agency and telecommunications carriers to push for changes in U.S. foreign intelligence 27 surveillance law, especially to ensure that such companies receive legal immunity for their role in 28

1 the government's unlawful surveillance of millions of Americans.

2 Defendant ODNI acknowledges that the requested information fits squarely within the 3 narrow category for which Congress has established a right to expedited processing and, on 4 September 10, 2007, purported to grant EFF's requests for such treatment. Nonetheless, in 5 violation of the FOIA and ODNI's own regulations, Defendant has failed to process EFF's requests 6 even within the statutory time frame (20 business days) for a standard request that is not entitled to 7 expedited treatment. ODNI's failure to process the requests—or to even identify a date by which it 8 expects to complete processing—violates the law.

10 An order compelling the timely processing and production of these documents is critical 11 because the information requested is directly relevant to understanding ODNI's role in lobbying on 12 behalf of telecommunications providers for legislation that is designed to force the dismissal of 13 lawsuits against providers, more than 40 of which are currently pending before this Court. While 14 ODNI stonewalls EFF's lawful FOIA requests, Congress continues to consider the legislation
15 demanded by the Director of National Intelligence. EFF and the public deserve to know about 16 contacts and connections between ODNI and telecom lobbyists before any legislation granting a 17 get-out-of-jail-free card becomes law. Because time is at the essence of both EFF's rights and 18 Defendant ODNI's obligations, EFF respectfully requests entry of an order compelling Defendant
19 ODNI to process and disclose the requested records immediately.

22 II. STATEMENT OF FACTS

23 A. The Administration's Campaign to Shield Telecommunications Carriers 24 From Liability for Their Role in Unlawful Surveillance Activity

25 The agency activities at the heart of this case concern ODNI's lobbying efforts to legalize
26 and immunize a massive, well-documented surveillance program through which the United States
27 government has unlawfully gathered information about millions of Americans with the help of the 28 nation's major telecommunications carriers. The first news of this surveillance program reached

1 the public on December 15, 2005, when the New York Times reported:

2 Months after the Sept. 11 attacks, President Bush secretly authorized the National 3 Security Agency to eavesdrop on Americans and others inside the United States to 4 search for evidence of terrorist activity without the court-approved warrants ordinarily required for domestic spying, according to government officials.

5 Under a presidential order signed in 2002, the intelligence agency has monitored
6 the international telephone calls and international e-mail messages of hundreds, 7 perhaps thousands, of people inside the United States without warrants over the past three years in an effort to track possible "dirty numbers" linked to Al Qaeda, the officials said.

10 required) (attached to the Declaration of Marcia Hofmann (hereafter "Hofmann Decl.") as Ex. A).¹

11 The following day, President Bush confirmed in a radio address that he had authorized a 12 surveillance program to intercept international communications in which one participant was 13 suspected of having a connection to the terrorist organization al-Qaeda. President's Radio

18 ¹ While newspaper accounts are hearsay, it is well established that this Court has the discretion to 19 consider hearsay or otherwise inadmissible evidence for purposes of deciding whether to issue a 20 preliminary injunction. Republic of the Philippines v. Marcos, 862 F.2d 1355, 1363 (9th Cir. 1988)
21 (en banc) (allowing hearsay evidence); accord Flynt Distrib. Co. v. Harvey, 734 F.2d 1389, 1394

23 determination and makes it difficult to obtain affidavits from persons who would be competent to 24 testify at trial. The trial court may give even inadmissible evidence some weight, when to do so 25 serves the purpose of preventing irreparable harm before trial."); Rosen Entm't Sts. LP v. Eiger 26 Vision, 343 F. Supp. 2d 908, 912 (C.D. Cal. 2004) ("District courts have discretion to consider 27 otherwise inadmissible evidence in ruling on the merits of an application for a preliminary 28 injunction."); New.Net, Inc. v. Lavasoft, 356 F Supp. 2d 1071, 1076 n.3 (C.D. Cal. 2003) ("[T]he Court may, in its discretion, accept hearsay for purposes of deciding whether to issue the preliminary injunction.") "District courts must exercise their discretion in weighing all the attendant factors, including the need for expedition, to assess whether, and to what extent, affidavits or other hearsay materials are appropriate given the character and objectives of the injunctive proceeding." Kos Pharm., Inc. v. Andrx Corp., 369 F.3d 700, 719 (3d Cir. 2004)
(quoting Asseo v. An Am. Grain Co., 805 F.2d 23, 26 (1st Cir. 1986) (quotation marks omitted))
(emphasis added).

1 Shortly thereafter, the New York Times reported that the NSA's surveillance activity was far
2 more extensive than President Bush had admitted. According to the Times:

3 The National Security Agency has traced and analyzed large volumes of telephone 4 and Internet communications flowing into and out of the United States as part of the 5 eavesdropping program that President Bush approved after the Sept. 11, 2001, 6 attacks to hunt for evidence of terrorist activity, according to current and former 7 government officials.

8 The volume of information harvested from telecommunication data and voice
9 networks, without court-approved warrants, is much larger than the White House 10 has acknowledged, the officials said. It was collected by tapping directly into some 11 of the American telecommunication system's main arteries, they said.

12 As part of the program approved by President Bush for domestic surveillance 13 without warrants, the N.S.A. has gained the cooperation of American 14 telecommunications companies to obtain backdoor access to streams of domestic 15 and international communications, the officials said.

16 Eric Lichtblau, Spy Agency Mined Vast Data Trove, N.Y. TIMES, Dec. 24, 2005, available at 17 <http://www.nytimes.com/2005/12/24/politics/24spy.html> (subscription required) (Hofmann Decl.
18 Ex. C).

19 The true scope of the government's surveillance operation continued to unravel in the press.
20 On February 6, 2006, for instance, USA Today reported, "[t]he National Security Agency has 21 secured the cooperation of large telecommunications companies, including AT&T, MCI and 22 Sprint, in its efforts to eavesdrop without warrants on international calls by suspected terrorists, 23 according to seven telecommunications executives." Leslie Cauley and John Diamond, Telecoms
24 Let NSA Spy on Calls, USA TODAY, Feb. 6, 2006, available at http://www.usatoday.com/news/
25 washington/2006-02-05-nsa-telecoms_x.htm (Hofmann Decl. Ex. D).

26 Since the Administration's surveillance program was first revealed, approximately 41
27 lawsuits have been filed throughout the United States seeking to hold the government and 28 cooperating telecommunications carriers responsible for violating the law and privacy of individuals through the NSA's massive and illegal warrantless spying program. An additional seven suits have arisen from attempts by state public utility commissioners and attorneys general to

1 seek information from telecommunications carriers about their involvement in warrantless
 2 surveillance activities. These lawsuits have been consolidated and are currently pending here in the 3 United States District Court for the Northern District of California. In re NSA Telecommunications
 4 Records Litigation (MDL Docket No. 06-1791 VRW).²

 6 On August 5, 2007, President Bush signed into law the Protect America Act of 2007, 7 legislation that amended the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act ("FISA") to expand the 8 government's power to intercept communications of Americans without warrants. Pub. L. No.
 9 110-55, 121 Stat. 552. Among other things, the law contains provisions designed to protect 10 telecommunications companies from future legal liability for their role in certain government 11 surveillance activity.

12 In an article published the same day, the New York Times reported:

13 [The Protect American Act] gave the administration greater power to force 14 telecommunications companies to cooperate with such spying operations. The 15 companies can now be compelled to cooperate by orders from the attorney general and the director of national intelligence.

16 Democratic Congressional aides said Sunday that some telecommunications 17 company officials had told Congressional leaders that they were unhappy with that 18 provision in the bill and might challenge the new law in court. The aides said the telecommunications companies had told lawmakers that they would rather have a court-approved warrant ordering them to comply.

19 In fact, pressure from the telecommunications companies on the Bush 20 administration has apparently played a major hidden role in the political battle over the surveillance issue over the past few months.

21 James Risen, Bush Signs Law to Widen Reach for Wiretapping, N.Y. TIMES, Aug. 5, 2007, 22 available at <http://www.nytimes.com/2007/08/06/washington/06nsa.html> (subscription 23 required) (Hofmann Decl. Ex. E).

24
 25 While the Protect America Act will expire in February 2008 without further congressional 26 action, President Bush has indicated that the Administration is already pushing for more extensive 27

28 ² EFF is Co-Lead Coordinating Counsel in this litigation.

1 legal immunity for telecommunications companies:

2 When Congress returns in September the Intelligence committees and leaders in 3 both parties will need to complete work on the comprehensive reforms requested by 4 Director [of National Intelligence Mike] McConnell, including the important issue of providing meaningful liability protection to those who are alleged to have assisted our Nation following the attacks of September 11, 2001.

5 Signing Statement, President Bush Commends Congress on Passage of Intelligence Legislation,
6 Aug. 6, 2007, available at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2007/08/20070805.html>
7 (Hofmann Decl. Ex. F). Similarly, in an interview discussing the government's warrantless
8 surveillance activities published by the El Paso Times on August 22, 2007, Director McConnell 9 recently stated:

11 [U]nder the president's program, the terrorist surveillance program, the private 12 sector had assisted us. Because if you're going to get access you've got to have a they're claimed, it would bankrupt these companies. So my position was that we have to provide liability protection to these private sector entities.

B. EFF's Freedom of Information Act Requests and Request for Expedited Processing to the Office of the Director of National Intelligence

In two letters sent by facsimile to Defendant ODNI and dated August 31, 2007, EFF requested under the FOIA all records from April 2007 to August 31, 2007 concerning briefings, discussions, or other exchanges that Director McConnell or ODNI officials have had concerning amendments to FISA with a) representatives of telecommunications companies; and b) offices of members of the Senate or House of Representatives, including any discussion of immunizing telecommunications companies or holding them otherwise unaccountable for their role in government surveillance activities. Letters from Marcia Hofmann, Staff Attorney, Electronic Frontier Foundation, to Freedom of Information Act/Privacy Office, Office of the Director of National Intelligence, August 31, 2007. (Hofmann Decl. Exs. K & L.) In its August 31 letters, EFF also formally requested that the processing of these requests be expedited because they seek the disclosure of information about which there is "[a]n urgency to inform the public about an actual or alleged Federal Government activity," and were "made by a person primarily engaged in disseminating information," as provided in 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II) and 32 C.F.R. § 1700.12(c)(2). Id.

In two facsimiles dated September 10, 2007, ODNI acknowledged that it had received EFF's FOIA requests and informed EFF that its request for expedited processing had been granted. Letters from John F. Hackett, Chief, Information Management Office, Office of the Director of National Intelligence, to Marcia Hofmann, Staff Attorney, Electronic Frontier Foundation, Sept. 10, 2007. (Hofmann Decl. Exs. M & N.) Notwithstanding Defendant ODNI's purported decision to expedite the processing of EFF's FOIA requests, to date, the agency has neither completed the processing of EFF's requests, nor informed EFF of an anticipated date for the completion of the

1 processing of the requests.⁴ (Hofmann Decl. ¶ 16.) Not only has ODNI failed to expedite the 2 processing of EFF's requests, it has also exceeded the generally applicable twenty-day deadline for 3 the processing of any FOIA request. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A).

4 III. ARGUMENT

5 The issue raised in this motion is simple and straightforward. Although Defendant ODNI
 6 has acknowledged EFF's legal entitlement to expedited processing of its August 31 FOIA requests, 7 the agency has failed to comply with not only the FOIA's provisions for expedited processing, but 8 also the statute's mandated time frame of 20 working days for responding to standard, non-9 expedited requests. The agency's failure to process the requests is a continuing impediment to 10 EFF's—and the public's—ability to timely examine the scope of the lobbying campaign to secure 11 legal immunity for telecommunications carriers for their cooperation with the government's 12 warrantless surveillance operations. The agency's action is unlawful and must be enjoined.

15 A. The Court has Jurisdiction to Grant the Requested Relief

16 The Court's jurisdiction to consider this matter and grant appropriate relief is clear. The 17 FOIA provides, in pertinent part:

18 Agency action to deny or affirm denial of a request for expedited processing . . .
 19 shall be subject to judicial review under paragraph (4), except that the judicial 20 review shall be based on the record before the agency at the time of the 21 determination.

22 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(iii). The referenced judicial review provision states, in pertinent part:

23 On complaint, the district court of the United States in the district in which the 24 complainant resides, or has his principal place of business . . . has jurisdiction to 25 enjoin the agency from withholding agency records and to order the production of any agency records improperly withheld from the complainant. In such a case the court shall determine the matter de novo

26 ⁴ After the introduction and mark-up of S. 2248, discussed in Section I supra, EFF contacted 27 counsel for ODNI on October 22, 25, and 26, 2007, to suggest that the parties negotiate a mutually 28 agreeable schedule for the processing of EFF's FOIA requests. (Hofmann Decl. ¶ 17.) As of the filing of this motion, ODNI has not responded to EFF's overtures. Id.

1 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(B). See Al-Fayed v. CIA, 254 F.3d 300, 304 (D.C. Cir. 2001).⁵

3 Here, notwithstanding ODNI's decision to "expedite" EFF's requests, the agency has failed
4 to respond within the generally applicable 20-working-day time limit established by 5 U.S.C.
5 § 552(a)(6)(A). EFF's claim is ripe for adjudication because EFF has exhausted all applicable
6 administrative remedies. The FOIA provides:

7 [a]ny person making a request to any agency for records . . . shall be deemed to have 8 exhausted his administrative remedies with respect to such request if the agency 9 fails to comply with the applicable time limit provisions of this paragraph.

11 ("If the agency has not responded within the statutory time limits, then . . . the requester may bring 12 suit."). As the FOIA provides, in reviewing ODNI's actions, "the court shall determine the matter 13 de novo." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(B); see also Al-Fayed, 254 F.3d at 308 ("[A] district court must 14 review de novo an agency's denial of a request for expedition under FOIA.").

15 B. EFF is Entitled to Entry of an Order for Preliminary Injunction

16 A preliminary injunction is a device for "preventing the irreparable loss of rights before 17 judgment." Sierra On-Line, Inc. v. Phoenix Software, Inc., 739 F.2d 1415, 1422 (9th Cir. 1984)
18 (citation omitted). In considering this motion, the Court will consider "four equitable factors: the 19 movant's likelihood of success on the merits; the possibility of irreparable injury to the moving 20 party; the extent to which the balance of hardships favors each party; and whether the public 21 interest will be advanced by granting the preliminary relief." Overstreet v. United Bhd. Of

26 ⁵ EFF's principal place of business is located in San Francisco, California. (Hofmann Decl. ¶ 2.)
27 This Court also has jurisdiction of this case under 28 U.S.C. § 1331 ("The district courts shall have 28 original jurisdiction over all civil actions arising under the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States.").

1 (“Gerstein v. CIA I”). As it weighs these factors, the Court must find “either: (1) a combination of 2 probable success on the merits and the possibility of irreparable harm; or (2) that serious questions
 3 are raised and the balance of hardships tips in [the plaintiff’s] favor.” Preminger v. Principi, 422
 4 F.3d 815, 823 (9th Cir. 2005) (citing A&M Records, Inc. v. Napster, Inc., 239 F.2d 1004, 1013 (9th
 5 Cir. 2001). These are not two separate, distinct approaches, but rather “represent two points on a 6 sliding scale in which the required degree of irreparable harm increases as the probability of 7 success decreases.” Prudential Real Estate Affiliates, Inc., v. PPR Realty, Inc., 204 F.3d 867, 874
 8 (9th Cir. 2000), citing Arcamuzi v. Continental Air Lines, Inc., 819 F.2d 935, 937 (9th Cir. 1987).
 9 Furthermore, in deciding whether to grant the injunction, “the court must balance the equities
 10 between the parties and give due regard to the public interest.” Idaho Watersheds Project v. Hahn, 11 307 F.3d 815, 833 (9th Cir. 2002).

 14 In determining whether a preliminary injunction is proper, “[t]he district court is not 15 required to make any binding findings of fact; it need only find probabilities that the necessary
 16 facts can be proved.” Id. at 1423. Moreover, “the greater the relative hardship to the moving 17 party, the less probably of success must be shown.” Sun Microsystems, Inc. v. Microsoft Corp., 18 188 F.3d 1115, 1119 (9th Cir. 1999), quoting Nat’l Ctr. For Immigrants Rights v. INS, 743 F.2d 19 1365, 1369 (9th Cir. 1984).
 20

21 Though preliminary injunction is not the norm in FOIA cases, this Court has concluded that 22 such relief is appropriate where a requester establishes that its requests are entitled to expedited
 23 processing under the statute, and the government fails to process them in a timely manner.⁶

24 Gerstein v. CIA I, No. C-06-4643 MMC, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 89883, at 12-13. The

 26 ⁶ As one judge recently noted, “where a plaintiff contends in good faith that an agency has failed to 27 expedite processing of a FOIA request in accordance with statute or regulation . . . the availability 28 of an order that effectively is an injunction, preliminary or otherwise, should not be foreclosed.”
Elec. Frontier Foundation v. Dep’t of Justice, No. 07-0656 (JDB), slip op. at 4 (D.D.C. June 15, 2007) (Hofmann Decl. Ex. O).

preliminary injunction factors in this case firmly establish EFF's entitlement to injunctive relief.

1. EFF is Likely to Prevail on the Merits of Its Claim

Given EFF's uncontested entitlement to the expedited processing of its requests under the explicit terms of the FOIA statute, EFF's likelihood of prevailing on the merits could hardly be stronger. In assessing EFF's likelihood of success, the Court must consider one discrete issue: whether Defendant ODNI has processed EFF's FOIA requests in an expedited manner within the time frame provided in the FOIA and ODNI regulations. EFF is entitled to prevail on this issue, since the agency has conceded that EFF's requests are entitled to expedited processing, and yet has violated the FOIA and ODNI regulations by failing to satisfy the processing time permitted for even a standard, non-expedited request.

The FOIA clearly establishes the circumstances in which ODNI must provide expedited processing of requests. According to the statute, "[e]ach agency shall promulgate regulations . . . providing for expedited processing of requests for records . . . in cases in which the person requesting the records demonstrates a compelling need and . . . in other cases determined by the agency." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(i). "Compelling need" includes, "with respect to a request made by a person primarily engaged in disseminating information, urgency to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v).

Pursuant to the statutory directive, ODNI has issued regulations establishing two grounds for expedited processing, only one of which is relevant here. That provision states that "requests . . . will be taken out of order and given expedited processing treatment whenever it is determined that they involve . . . [a]n urgency to inform the public about an actual or alleged Federal Government activity, if made by a person primarily engaged in disseminating information." 32 C.F.R. § 1700.12(c)(2). If the agency grants expedited treatment, it is obligated to process the request "as soon as practicable." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(iii); 32 C.F.R. § 1700.12(b). The statute's "phrase

1 ‘as soon as practicable,’ in the context of a provision of FOIA allowing for expedited processing,
 2 cannot be interpreted to impose a lower burden on the agency than would otherwise exist.” Elec.
 3 Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep’t of Justice, 416 F. Supp. 2d 24, 39 (D.D.C. 2006) (hereafter “Elec.
 4 Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep’t of Justice I”) (emphasis in original). Therefore, an agency is presumed 5 to have violated the “expedited processing” provisions of the FOIA when it fails to comply with 6 the generally applicable 20-working-day deadline imposed by the FOIA for processing a non-7 expedited request. Id. Once the 20-working-day deadline has passed, the agency bears the burden
 8 of proving that it is in fact processing the expedited request “as soon as practicable.” Id. at n.8.

10 Here, EFF requested expedited processing of its FOIA requests because they concern a 11 lobbying campaign to amend federal surveillance law, which is a matter about which there is “an 12 urgency to inform the public about actual or alleged Federal Government activity.” (Hofmann 13 Decl. Exs. K & L.) Furthermore, the requests were made on behalf of EFF, which is a requester
 14 “primarily engaged in disseminating information.” Id. Defendant ODNI determined that EFF’s 15 requests were indeed entitled to expedited processing under this standard. (Hofmann Decl. Exs. M 16 & N) (“[Y]our request for expedited processing is granted and your request will be processed as 17 soon as practicable.”). There is no indication in the record, however, that ODNI has done anything 18 other than pay lip service to EFF’s entitlement to expedition. As this Court has noted, “in the 19 absence of relevant evidence as to the reasons for their delay in processing [a plaintiff’s FOIA]
 20 requests, [the government] ha[s] no likelihood of success on the merits.” Gerstein v. CIA I, 2006
 21 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 89883 at *14 (emphasis added).

24 Although it is undisputed that EFF’s request are legally entitled to expedited treatment,
 25 ODNI has failed to comply with the 20-day time frame required by the FOIA and its own 26 regulations for issuing a determination on even a non-expedited FOIA request. The agency has not 27 (and cannot) offer adequate justification for the delay, and has ignored three attempts by EFF to 28

1 negotiate an agreement to process the requests in a timely manner. EFF is entitled to the immediate 2 processing and release of the requested records, and asks that the Court issue an order to secure this 3 right.

 5 2. EFF Will Suffer Irreparable Injury in the Absence of the Requested Injunctive Relief

6 Unless ODNI's unlawful failure to comply with its obligation to expedite the processing of 7 EFF's FOIA requests is immediately enjoined, EFF will suffer irreparable harm. The very nature of 8 the right that EFF seeks to vindicate in this action—expedited processing—depends upon 9 timeliness, because “stale information is of little value.” Payne Enterprises, Inc. v. United States,
 10 837 F.2d 486, 494 (D.C. Cir. 1988); Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep't of Justice I, 416 F. Supp. 2d
 11 at 40-41. Courts have recognized that the requisite injury is present, and preliminary injunctive 12 relief is appropriate, in cases expedited FOIA processing is at issue and where time thus is of the 13 essence, because delay “constitutes a cognizable harm.” Gerstein v. CIA I, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
 14 89983 at * 15, quoting Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep't of Justice I, 416 F. Supp. 2d at 40; see also, 15 e.g., United States v. BNS, Inc., 858 F.2d 456, 465 (9th Cir. 1988); Martin-Marietta Corp. v.
 16 Bendix Corp., 690 F.2d 558, 568 (6th Cir. 1982). Under the statutory scheme Congress established 17 in the FOIA, it is clear that timing is a critical component to expedited processing, and unless 18 Defendant ODNI is ordered to process EFF's requests immediately, EFF's right to expedition
 19 under the FOIA will be irretrievably lost.

22 In addition to the loss of its clearly established statutory right, any further delay in the 23 processing of EFF's FOIA requests will irreparably harm EFF's ability, and that of the public, to 24 obtain in a timely fashion information vital to the current and ongoing debate surrounding whether 25 Congress should amend FISA, particularly to render telecommunications carriers immune from 26 legal liability for their complicity in the government's warrantless surveillance program.
 27 (Hofmann Decl. ¶¶ 18-20.) The Supreme Court has long recognized our democracy's interest in 28

1 “the uninhibited, robust, and wide-open debate about matters of public importance that secures an 2 informed citizenry.” Cornelius v. NAACP Legal Def. & Educ. Fund, 473 U.S. 788, 815 (1985),
 3 quoting New York Times Co. v. Sullivan, 376 U.S. 254, 270 (1964) (internal quotation marks
 4 omitted); see also Board of Educ. v. Pico, 457 U.S. 853, 876 (1982) (“[T]he Constitution
 5 presupposes the existence of an informed citizenry prepared to participate in governmental 6 affairs.”).

8 Furthermore, the courts have recognized that providing information for legislative debate is 9 a compelling public interest. This recognized interest clearly would be compromised by further 10 delay in the disclosure EFF seeks. First, the question of whether and how FISA should be 11 modified, and whether telecommunications companies should receive some governmental 12 protection from liability for their cooperation in unlawful government surveillance, has already 13 garnered extraordinary media interest. (See, e.g., Hofmann Decl. Exs. E, G, H & J.) As this Court 14 has recognized, there is a “significant recognized interest, beyond the public’s mere right to know, 15 in quickly disseminating breaking, general-interest news.” Gerstein v. CIA, No. C-06-4643 MMC, 16 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 89847, at *22 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 29, 2006) (“Gerstein v. CIA II”) (internal 17 quotation marks omitted), citing ACLU of Northern California v. Dep’t of Defense, No. C 06-
 18 01698 WHA, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 36888, at *8 (N.D. Cal. May 25, 2006).

21 Second, since EFF submitted its FOIA requests to ODNI on August 31, the issues about 22 which EFF seeks information have become only more vital to the American public. Amendments
 23 to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act have been discussed in several hearings before 24 congressional committees. In such circumstances, “the public interest is particularly well-served by 25 the timely release of the requested documents.” Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep’t of Justice I, 416 F.
 26 Supp. 2d at 42. Moreover, a legislative proposal currently pending in the Senate would provide 27 retroactive protection to telecommunications carriers involved in the government’s warrantless 28

1 surveillance program, which has placed the decision of whether to extend immunity to the carriers
2 squarely before Congress. (Hofmann Decl. Ex. I.) This Court and others have determined that the 3 existence of pending legislation related to the subject of a FOIA request weighs in favor of a grant
4 of expedited processing. Gerstein v. CIA II, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 89847, at *20 (granting 5 expedited processing where this Court noted that “there is a significant recognized interest in 6 enhancing public debate on potential legislative action”); see also Leadership Conference on Civil
7 Rights v. Gonzales, 404 F. Supp. 2d 246, 260 (D.D.C. 2005); ACLU v. Dep’t of Justice, 321 F.
8 Supp. 2d 24, 31 (D.D.C. 2004).

10 If there is to be a meaningful public debate on the issue of retroactive protection for 11 telecommunications companies, however, the examination “cannot be based solely upon 12 information that the Administration voluntarily chooses to disseminate.” Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v.
13 Dep’t of Justice I, 416 F. Supp. 2d at 41 n.9. Indeed, the public oversight mechanism provided by 14 the FOIA is central to open and democratic debate on critical policy issues such as 15 telecommunications industry’s lobbying campaign and ODNI’s role in it. As the Supreme Court
16 has observed, the Act is “a means for citizens to know what the Government is up to. This phrase 17 should not be dismissed as a convenient formalism. It defines a structural necessity in a real 18 democracy.” Nat’l Archives & Records Admin. v. Favish, 541 U.S. 157, 171-172 (2004) (emphasis 19 added; citation and internal quotation marks omitted). Moreover, “[n]ot only is public awareness a 20 necessity, but so too is timely public awareness.” Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep’t of Justice I, 416
21 F. Supp. 2d at 40 (emphasis in original).

24 It is clear that the information EFF seeks must be disclosed expeditiously if it is to 25 contribute to the public debate on amending foreign intelligence surveillance law, particularly on 26 the issue of telecommunications carrier immunity. Because time is of the essence in this matter, 27 EFF will be irreparably harmed unless the Court acts now, “when it [is] still possible to grant 28

1 effective relief,” and before “all opportunity to grant the requested relief [is] foreclosed.” Local
 2 Lodge No. 1266, Int’l Ass’n of Machinists and Aerospace Workers v. Panoramic Corp., 668 F.2d
 3 276, 290 (7th Cir. 1981).⁷

4 3. Injunctive Relief Will Not Burden Others’ Interests

5 Defendant ODNI cannot be “burdened” by a requirement that it merely comply with the 6 law. The immediate relief EFF seeks will require nothing more of the government than what 7 federal law already mandates: the expedited processing of EFF’s FOIA requests, which ODNI does 8 not dispute are entitled to such treatment. Furthermore, the relief EFF seeks will not burden the 9 interests of other parties who have submitted FOIA requests to ODNI in any manner beyond that 10 foreseen by Congress. In providing for expedited processing of qualifying requests, Congress 11 intended that such requests would take precedence over those that do not qualify for such 12 treatment. As such, expedited processing here should not be unduly burdensome for any party, 13 since Defendant ODNI carries a relatively small FOIA caseload, and handles few, if any, requests
 14 that require expedited processing. In fact, the most recently published ODNI statistics on FOIA 15 processing shows that the agency received only 44 requests in fiscal year 2006, none of which was 16 afforded expedited processing. U.S. Office of the Director of National Intelligence, Freedom of 17 Information Act Report for Fiscal Year 2006, Compliance with Time Limits/Status of Pending
 18 Requests, http://www.odni.gov/ODNI_FY06_Annual_FOIA.pdf (Hofmann Decl. Ex. P).

22 4. The Public Interest Favors the Requested Relief

23 The final factor in the preliminary injunction analysis also weighs in favor of the issuance 24 of the order EFF seeks in this case. The courts have long recognized that “there is an overriding 25

26 ⁷ As one court has recognized, delay in the processing of FOIA requests “may well result in 27 disclosing the relevant documents after the need for them in the formulation of national . . . policy 28 has been overtaken by events.” Natural Resources Defense Council v. Dep’t of Energy, 191 F.
 Supp. 2d 41, 43 (D.D.C. 2002) (“NRDC”) (granting motion for release of documents).

1 public interest . . . in the general importance of an agency's faithful adherence to its statutory 2 mandate." Jacksonville Port Authr .v. Adams, 556 F.2d 52, 59 (D.C. Cir. 1977); Elec. Privacy Info.
 3 Ctr. v. Dep't of Justice I, 416 F. Supp. 2d at 42. Similarly, it is "axiomatic that an agency is 4 required to follow its own regulations." Edmonds v. FBI, No. 02-1294, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
 5 26578, at *9 n.3 (D.D.C. Dec. 3, 2002) (quoting Cherokee National of Okla. v. Babbitt, 117 F.3d
 6 1489, 1499 (D.C. Cir. 1997) (internal quotation marks omitted)). Such adherence is all that EFF 7 seeks here.

9 The public interest will also be served by the expedited release of the requested records, 10 which will further the FOIA's core purpose of "shedding light on an agency's performance of its 11 statutory duties." Dep't of Justice v. Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, 489 U.S. 749,
 12 773 (1989); Sammis v. Barnhardt, No. C01-3973 BZ, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10321, at 3-4
 13 (N.D. Cal. June 6, 2002); Los Angeles Times Communications LLC v. Dep't of Labor, 483 F. Supp.
 14 2d 975, 981 (C.D. Cal. 2007). The public interest weighs in favor of a preliminary injunction 15 because "[t]here is public benefit in the release of information that adds to citizens' knowledge" of 16 government activities. Ctr. to Prevent Handgun Violence v. Dep't of the Treasury, 49 F. Supp. 2d 17 3, 5 (D.D.C. 1999). For these reasons, the public interest favors the issuance of an order directing 18 Defendant ODNI to immediately process and release the requested information.
 19

20 C. The Court Should Order Defendant ODNI to Process EFF's FOIA
 21 Requests Immediately

22 It is well established that preliminary injunctive relief is appropriate when, as in this case, 23 an agency has failed to act upon a well-founded request for expedited processing. Elec. Privacy 24 Info. Ctr. v. Dep't of Justice I, 416 F. Supp. at 35 n.4 ("the court may use its equitable power to 25 prevent agency delay, even when exercise of such authority is preliminary in nature.") Congress
 26 expressly required agencies to make determinations on requests for expedited processing within 10
 27 calendar days, 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(ii)(I), and provided for immediate judicial review of 28

1 adverse determinations, 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(iii), demonstrating an intent that the courts should 2 act quickly to vindicate the right to expedition. See, e.g., ACLU v. Dep't of Justice, 321 F. Supp.
3 2d at 28-29 (complete exhaustion of administrative remedies not a prerequisite to judicial review of 4 agency expedition decisions). Congress's mandate that disputes concerning expedited processing
5 should be quickly resolved would be frustrated if aggrieved requesters were required to remain idle
6 for 20 days after initiating suit before moving for partial summary judgment. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(a).
7 As such, claims involving entitlement to expedited processing are appropriately addressed through 8 motions for preliminary relief. Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep't of Justice I, 416 F. Supp. at 35. See
9 also Aguilera v. FBI, 941 F. Supp. 144, 152-153 (D.D.C. 1996) (granting preliminary injunction 10 FOIA lawsuit for expedited processing); Cleaver v. Kelley, 427 F. Supp. 80, 81-82 (D.D.C. 1976)
11 (same); ACLU v. Dep't of Defense, 339 F. Supp. 2d 501, 503 (S.D.N.Y. 2004) (same).
12

14 The appropriate form of relief is no more than ordering the agency to follow the applicable
15 ODNI regulations that dictate the manner in which expedited FOIA requests must be processed.
16 The regulations provide that ODNI generally processes requests "in the order received on a strictly 17 'first-in, first-out' basis," 32 C.F.R. § 1700.12(a), but that requests "will be taken out of order and 18 given expedited processing treatment whenever it is determined that they [meet the criteria for 19 expedited processing]." Id. § 1700.12(c). "If a request for expedited treatment is granted, the 20 request shall be given priority and shall be processed as soon as practicable." Id. § 1700.12(b).
21 Defendant ODNI concedes that EFF's request qualifies for expedited treatment, and so there is no 22 dispute that EFF's request must be processed as soon as practicable. Therefore, the Court should 23 order Defendant ODNI to complete the processing of EFF's FOIA requests immediately.
24

25 In several recent cases, this Court and others have imposed specific processing deadlines on 26 agencies, requiring the prompt delivery of non-exempt records to FOIA requesters. For example, 27 in both Gerstein v. CIA I & II, this Court ordered the defendant federal agencies to process and 28

1 produce all non-exempt records responsive to this plaintiff's FOIA request within 30 days of the 2 Court's orders. 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 89883, at * 16; 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 89847, at * 27.
3 Similarly, in Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Dep't of Energy, 191 F. Supp. 2d 138 (D.D.C. 2002), the 4 District Court for the District of Columbia ordered the Commerce Department and the 5 Transportation Department to process, respectively, 9000 and 6000 pages of material; to complete
6 the processing within 60 days; and to provide the requester with a Vaughn index within 72 days.
7 Id. at 141. It is worth noting that the FOIA requests at issue in that case were not claimed to be 8 entitled to expedited processing. Similarly, in NRDC, the same court ordered the Energy 9 Department to process 7500 pages of material; to complete the processing of the "vast majority" of 10 the material within 32 days; to complete all processing within 48 days; and to provide the requester 11 with a Vaughn index within 63 days. 191 F. Supp. 2d at 43-44. Again, the FOIA request in 12 NRDC, unlike the requests at issue here, had not been granted expedited treatment.
13
14

15 In ACLU v. Dep't of Defense, a case involving an expedited request, the District Court for 16 the Southern District of New York ordered a variety of agencies to "produce or identify all 17 responsive documents," and to provide the requesters with a Vaughn index, within 30 days. 339 F.
18 Supp. 2d at 505. Furthermore, in Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. Dep't of Justice, a court ordered the 19 FBI to "complete the processing of 1500 pages every 15 calendar days, and provide the plaintiff all 20 responsive non-exempt pages contained therein, until processing is complete," after the agency had 21 granted a request for expedited processing but failed to produce any responsive records. Civ. No.
22 05-845, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 40318, at 5-6 (D.D.C. Nov. 16, 2005) ("Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr.
23 v. Dep't of Justice II. Most recently, in a case involving a request submitted by EFF, a court 24 ordered the FBI to process 2500 pages every 30 days where the Bureau conceded that EFF was 25 entitled to expedited processing of a request, but failed to process the responsive documents
26 quickly. Elec. Frontier Foundation v. Dep't of Justice, No. 07-0656 (JDB) (Hofmann Decl. Ex. O 27
28

1 at 5).

2 Recognizing the extraordinary public interest in the records at issue here, and in order to 3 facilitate the informed participation of EFF, and the American people, in the current and ongoing
4 debate over whether FISA should be amended and telecommunications companies should be held
5 unaccountable for their role in the government's unlawful surveillance operations, EFF respectfully
6 requests the Court to direct Defendant ODNI to complete the processing of EFF's requests and 7 produce or identify all responsive records within 10 days of the issuance of its order. The Court
8 should further order Defendant ODNI to serve on EFF an index pursuant to Vaughn v. Rosen 10
9 days later.⁸

26 ⁸ Judicial resolution of the expedited processing issue would not resolve all issues raised in the 27 complaint. Once the question of processing time is resolved, the Court would retain jurisdiction to 28 review the completeness and propriety of ODNI's substantive determination of EFF's FOIA requests. See Open America v. Watergate Special Prosecution Force, 547 F. 2d 605 (D.C. Cir.
1976).

1 IV. CONCLUSION

2 For the foregoing reasons, EFF's motion for a preliminary injunction should be granted.
